

One day in space there were astronauts well I was one to. But we crashed on the moon. We yelled for help nobody heard me. We all tried to use our phone but there was no WiFi. Until we node test the rocket still worked and we still needed it to come out of the rocks.

We needed something that can lift it up. That's when I node test the alien named Zack. I went to search the moon. I found the alien Zack I said can you help he said he would help me I brought him to help he built and built the rocks out. Once the rocket was out we got in.

We we looked on the news a meter was about to come to the moon good thing we got out in time as we left we took the alien Zack to saturn and we went to the space station. And we looked around we found a wand!! At least that's what I think it is. We could do whatever we want.

How do we get it to work ,biddi bobbidi boo, hocus pocus, abracadabra, none of them work. "Wait I know it's ham” said one of the astronauts. “No I said but I’ll probably try it. Ham? Bam!!!” Ahhhhhh it’s pizza oh pizza”. “It worked now what”. I dropped it down a hole! “Nooooooooooooooooo” “be quiet shhh”. “The pizza is moving”. “Let’s check it out”. “The magic wand was in the pizza the hole time”.

“Soooo now what”? We could go to see Zack again”.

“Come on guys”. Get to the rocket. “We can show him our wand”. “We’re here”. “Where’s Zack”. “There he is”. “Look at our wand Zack”. “Wow” said Zack. “You better leave”.

He said there’s a space alien somewhere. Just kidding and the all lived happily ever after.